O'BANNON TO ASK FOR NEW COUNT

But Defeated Candidate for Treasurer of Henrico Does Not Charge Fraud.

Excitement incident to the heated senatorial campaign, the possibility of "honest mistakes" in counting the ballots, or both, in the opinion of S. M. O'Bannon, may have been responsible for his apparent defeat for the office of treasurer of Henrico county by the incumbent, Henry C. Hechler. On these grounds alone, and actuated by a spirit of fair play, he will file with the committee, some time before the time limit expires on Monday at 3 P. M., a notice demanding a recount of the ballots cast in last week's primary. Mr. Hechler was declared the nominee by a majority of thirty-nine votes.

In taking this action Mr. O'Bannon disclaims any intention of calling into question either the honesty of the men who counted the ballots or the conduct of the election. He is convinced that there had been no wrongdoing anywhere along the line.

"There is not in my mind an idea that wrong has been done," he said yesterday. "I believe, as do a great many of my friends, that it is more probable that mistakes have been made. The ticket was a long one, and a very trying one, and there is just a chance that the officers have made honest mistakes in counting the ballots for my office. If there has been a mistake I am satisfied that the officers will want to see that mistake corrected. If there is no mistake, no harm can be done."

He will file with the committee a notice demanding a recount in the case of disputed elections. Mr. O'Bannon stated yesterday that he would file his request with the committee before noon on Saturday, calling for a fair and careful recount. If there should develop grounds for a contest in any of the precincts, it will be the duty of the investigating committee to pass upon its merits and render a decision.

IN POLICE COURT

Real Estate Dealer Ordered to Remove Union Street Dwelling.

William Fountain went to the grand jury on warrants charging him with bringing into the pressing house of W. D. Wilborn and stealing a pair of clothes, valued at $10. Clay Martin got off on a technicality from a charge of stealing a wrench from L. P. Rader.

William May and Charles Wingfield, both colored, took a pair of trousers each from the Askin Clothing Company and went down for sixty days.

On complaint of Building Inspector Beck H. Seiden Taylor, executor for T. C. Wender, was ordered to pull down the house at 1011½ West Street, because the property, Mr. Beck had several other similar cases in court, but the rest were postponed.

Dr. Marsteller Saw Service on Panama Canal Work.

Dr. A. A. Marsteller, of this city, was yesterday commissioned captain in the Medical Corps, Virginia Volunteers, and will be under direction of Major Truman A. Parker. Captain Marsteller has had an interesting history for a young surgeon.

Graduating at the Medical College of Virginia in 1906, he spent a year as interne in the Orthopedic Hospital in New York. Then, entering the government service, he was for two years on duty at the Panama Canal, with the sanitary corps. Leaving the isthmus, he spent eighteen months with railroad contract work in Brazil. He only recently came to Richmond. He succeeds to the position made vacant by the resignation of Dr. Julian Robinson, of Danville.

BIG ENROLLMENT AT PUBLIC SCHOOLS

Total Attendance Figures Expected to Greatly Exceed Record of Last Year.

Public schools opened yesterday morning all over Richmond with a large attendance. Old pupils reported at all elementary schools, and both old and new pupils at the John Marshall High School. To-day new pupils will report for enrollment, and by Monday morning, the routine of school work will be in full swing all over the city. Reports as to total attendance are not yet available, but indications are that it will exceed that of last year except at Madison School. The prospective temporary transfer of pupils from the old Madison building to the Arenis building making it necessary for many to go a long distance and to cross railway tracks while new Madison building is being erected, has resulted in some of the lower grades being sent to private schools.

The William F. Fox School on Hanover Avenue, the newest, largest and best equipped elementary school in the city, opened yesterday morning and was well filled. With the pupils entering this morning it is expected that it will soon reach its maximum capacity. The opening of the new school, however, will relieve the congestion of last session both at Sidney and West End Schools. Plans will be reported by the School Board for the new Bellevue School to stand on the Van Lew property recently acquired by the city.

Dedication exercises will be held at the William F. Fox School to-morrow afternoon under auspices of the Junior Order United American Mechanics. Mayor Richardson will make the address.

HOWITZERS ENTERTAIN

Magician and Refreshments Delight Friends of Battery.

Three hundred invited guests of the Richmond Howitzers gathered in the drill hall at the armory last night for the first public entertainment given by the battery. It was especially an evening arranged for the feminine friends of the soldiers.

Selections of music were rendered, followed by a display of the arts of a pair of magicians. Refreshments were served, and then there were some feats in fancy, ending in the big gymnasium swimming pool.

Captain W. M. Myers and other officers of the battalion did the receiving, but the entertainment was planned by a committee, of which Sergeant Seay was chairman.

MILITIA DEMANDS FAIR SENDS OUT MAIL BY CARLOAD

Local Ranges Said to Be Only Chance for Efficiency in Shooting.

Bearing the same complaint now constantly heard among the Virginia Volunteers, the official report of Major Stanley W. Martin, on the recent national rifle shoot at Camp Perry, bewails the lack of company ranges for constant use by the men. In company with everybody else nowadays, Major Martin says that results would be much better if each company were equipped with a range, so that the men would have a chance to practice and attain efficiency.

The feat of climbing up from thirty-fourth to twenty-ninth place as the result of this year's matches seems to have been the result of an accidental rally in the final moments, rather than in good shooting. Major Martin says in his report, which was filed yesterday with the Adjutant-General, that after the 200-yard firing, the Virginia team dropped back several points, and the conclusion of the stationary contest it had lost five points, being in thirty-third place, of close to the bottom. But in the skirmish run some excellent shooting was done, bringing the team up ten places, to No. 24.

In token of the valuable service of Gunner Sergeant Peter S. Lund, United States Marine Corps, coach for the Virginia team, he was given a watch. Captain Charles M. Wallace making a little speech of presentation.

Major A. B. Percy acted as team coach; Captain A. A. Grove, as statistical officer; Captain Porter as financial and mess officer, and Captain James Cuthrell as ordinance officer. Major Martin also thanks Colonel C. A. Dempsey, United States Army, retired, for his advice and services.

PARK STRANGER IN CITY

Body That of Man Who Called Himself Charles White, of New York.

STOPPED AT LEXINGTON

Unfortunate Carefully Removed. Indications of His Identity.

From the account printed in The Times-Dispatch, the man who committed suicide near the lake in William Byrd Park Wednesday night was identified yesterday as Charles White, of New York, who the night before had been registered at the Lexington Hotel. The body was identified at Bennett's undertaking establishment by Frank Riley, until recently a bartender at the Lexington. He read the description in the paper, and feeling certain that it was the man to whom he had sold many drinks, went out and named him beyond question. Others who had seen him around the hotel saw the body and were of the same opinion.

One of the most potent factors in the search was the cane he used. It was much the shape of a golf stick, and was close to the body when discovered near the lake. Mr. Riley remembered that the man he had in mind was lame and carried a cane of that kind. He called for it even before he saw the body.

Relatives Unknown.
Though the name is known as the dead man gave it, those investigating the case are almost as much at sea as they were when the body was first discovered. There is not the slightest trace that would lead to his relatives or to any one else that would know him. There is a scar on his left temple and another on the left collarbone, both of which look as though they might have been inflicted by bullets. Otherwise there are no distinctive marks on the body except the huge hole which he himself put through the base of his brain.

According to those at the hotel with whom he talked, White, if that really was his name, was the last man they would expect to see in the city. He said that he was in Richmond for his health. He drank a good deal and paid as he went. He spent the night before his death at the Lexington and said that he had stopped at several other places. When he took a room he paid in advance and carried no baggage. Though he registered at the Lexington, at least one man was told that he was a native of Elizabeth, N. J. The day before his death he told the barkeeper at the Lexington that he had been to Seven Pines, but did not get off the car.

Destroyed Evidence.
That the suicide was well planned seems certain. The case of his belongings was left at the hotel, with the trunk marked out. The band in his hat was torn out, and in fact, every other mark of identification carefully obliterated. It is the general belief that he registered under an assumed name, and that he is of a type that is very general. It probably will be some time before the body will be removed from Bennett's shop.

White met several men at the Lexington bar and made a good impression on them. He had traveled over most of the United States and seemed to be an all around good fellow. At times he was shabby, but always seemed to have some money. Anyhow, he made no loans nor asked for credit; neither did he disclose the smallest detail of his history.

FAIR SENDS OUT MAIL BY CARLOAD

Publicity End Being Worked for. All It's Worth to Bring Crowds Here.

While the State Fair Association is not sending out tons of mail every day, the quantity of mail which goes out from headquarters in the Mutual Building every day is enormous. The mail carries advertisements of Richmond to every part of the State and to every State.

"Parker," the porter at headquarters, has been in the habit of filling the big mail box on the corner of Ninth Street a dozen times a day. Instead of carrying the mail in a wagon to the post-office, as he should have done, Parker caused much complaint from the mail collectors, and he has accordingly been superseded at headquarters by another porter who is not too energetic in working the labor saving device.

Through an understanding between the post-office officials and the fair officials, the association's mail will hereafter be carried to the post-office in a wagon. If the mail increases as rapidly this week as it has done in the past few days, the post-office will have to be enlarged to accommodate the mail.

Many thousands of copies of the premium list have been broadcast, and thousands of "stories" have been sent to the press of the country, telling about the fair, the city and the State. Thousands more will be sent out, and the publicity department, together with the concession and space departments, will be busy in this particular right up to the first day of the fair, October 9.

DIES FROM WOUND

Little Alice Nunnally, who was accidentally shot Thursday night by Miss Grace Browning, died early yesterday morning at the Virginia Hospital. The police as well as the child's parents are satisfied that the shooting was purely accidental, so no action will be taken against Miss Browning, not even of the most formal kind.

Coroner Taylor said yesterday that he was satisfied it was an accident, and therefore had decided not to hold an inquest, as the case was thoroughly investigated by himself and the police. In fact, Mr. Nunnally requested that no legal proceedings of any kind be instituted.

FAILED TO MAKE ANNUAL REPORTS

Railroad and Other Corporations Must Explain to Commission.

HEALTH DEPARTMENT WORK

Desires to Help Physicians. Education Board Meeting Called.

One Virginia railroad, two telephone companies and one power and water company have been summoned before the State Corporation Commission to show cause why they should not be fined for failure to make the annual returns of property as required by law. The returns are used as the basis for assessment of public service corporations.

Rules have been issued against the four concerns, requiring them to appear before the commission on Tuesday, October 24, at 11 A. M., to answer. The penalty is a fine of not less than $5 nor more than $2,500.

The railroad is the Greenesville and Dinwiddie, operated by the Camp Manufacturing Company Lumber Interest. The notice is to be served on J. C. Parker, the secretary. In case he is not found, the sheriff is directed to serve it on either P. D. Camp, J. L. Camp or R. J. Camp.

The other rules are against the following concerns: Swift Run Telephone Company, of Stanardsville, Greene County; Dr. R. B. Pennington, president; Cooperative Water and Power Corporation of Norfolk; A. B. Carney, president; Iola Mutual Telephone Company, of Bealeton, J. M. Price, president.

WORK WITH DOCTORS

State Health Department Points Out Methods of Co-operation.

For the purpose of keeping in close touch with the physicians of the State, the Department of Health has in the September bulletin, issued yesterday, outlined its methods of co-operation. In addition, there is printed a complete list of physicians practicing in Virginia, as full as it was possible to make it from sources of information known to the department.

"The department," says the bulletin, "relies upon the enlightened physician for information regarding communicable disease, for the compilation of vital statistics, and for co-operation with the general public. In return it offers its support to the physician and, in addition, gives him, on behalf of the Commonwealth, all possible aid in the discharge of his duties."

The department makes free examinations of sputum for tuberculosis, of blood for typhoid and malaria, of cultures for diphtheria, of feces for hookworm and other intestinal parasites, and chemical and bacteriological examinations of water, to ascertain its suitability for drinking purposes.

Education Board to Meet.
A call has been issued for a meeting of the State Board of Education at the Capitol on Tuesday, September 26, at 3 P. M. The board does not meet in midwinter months, and there is an accumulation of matters for its attention.

General Sale to Return.
Adjutant-General W. W. Sale, who has been on a vacation, is expected at his office to-day.

Former Army Sergeant Ill.
Sergeant J. M. Hackett, United States Army, retired, on duty with the Adjutant-General's office, became alarmingly ill yesterday. His condition is regarded as very serious.

More Expense Accounts.
State Senator A. R. Hobbs, of the district composed of the counties of Surry, Greensville, Sussex and Prince George, who was successful in his bid to be renominated for two terms in last week's primary, reported at the Capitol yesterday and left his expense account. He expended $200, which went for the most part in traveling and hotel bills.

Dr. George B. Steel, one of the decorated candidates for the House from Richmond, put in his statement yesterday. It cost him $119.25 to make the race, which included primary fee, hire of buggy and printing.

New Law Examiner.
The Supreme Court of Appeals, in session at Staunton, has nominated R. T. Barton, of Winchester, to be a member of the State Board of Law Examiners, to succeed Frank T. Glasgow, who has resigned. The Governor will make the appointment later.

STATE OFFICER WILL SOON RETIRE

Dairy and Food Commissioner Saunders to Quit Position.

HAS PERSONAL BUSINESS

Has Held Place Over Own Protest—Term Expires at End of Year.

For reasons affecting his personal business affairs, State Dairy and Food Commissioner W. D. Saunders will not be a candidate for reappointment to that position, and expects to retire at the expiration of his present term on December 31 of this year. Mr. Saunders, in an interview yesterday, authorized this announcement.

It has been stated recently about the Capitol by friends of Commissioner Saunders that he would under no circumstances accept reappointment. When asked about the matter yesterday, he did not put the case in so strong a light, but said that he had never been an aspirant for the position, had never desired to hold it, and would much prefer not to do so. It is believed that he would decline reappointment.

Has Private Business.
Mr. Saunders is the possessor of one of the most valuable farms in Franklin county, to which he has been able to give little attention since the beginning of his public service. It is his desire to devote himself to improving this property and to bring it up to its highest state of profitable cultivation. He has, besides, other personal business affairs, which he believes demand his attention to an extent which has been impossible while he holds public office. He is a brother of Congressman E. W. Saunders, of the Fifth District.

When the term expires on the last day of this year Mr. Saunders will have been the State Dairy and Food Commissioner for three years and seven months. He was appointed by Governor Swanson under the provisions of the act creating the department, after the adjournment of the Legislature. The successor to Mr. Saunders, whoever he may be, will fill a full term of four years, under the statute. Governor Swanson sought Mr. Saunders and asked him to accept the appointment, which the latter agreed to after protest.

Has Many Specialties.
The incumbent is a graduate of Cornell, where he specialized in just such work as now falls under his jurisdiction. He has paid especial attention to dairying and to advanced farming, and knows things about pure human and animal food products. It has been his duty to organize the commission over which he presides and to put it in running order.

Approaching the end of his period of service, Commissioner Saunders said yesterday that while he has not been able to accomplish all that he set out to do, he feels that great strides have been made, and that success has crowned many of his efforts. Manufacturers and dealers in food products unit for consumption have been schooled into obedience with the law. The very presence of inspectors in the field has, it is believed, deterred many practices formerly indulged in.

Wipe Out Cattle Disease.
But the greatest anxiety felt by Commissioner Saunders is in regard to the tuberculosis tests for cattle. He secured the passage of a law by the last Legislature authorizing tests to be made at the request of owners, and appropriating a rather small sum for reimbursement in part for the loss sustained by cattle which were condemned. This work has grown to the point where Mr. Saunders regards it as one of the most important factors in the development of dairying and cattle raising in Virginia. Whole herds have been cleaned out and the infection destroyed in many localities. It continues to be a thinks, in time the State will be practically rid of the most prolific cause of loss to the farmers and dairymen.

Leaving the work of cattle testing is Mr. Saunders' only regret. He hopes that it will fall into hands which can be trusted to carry it to its ultimate conclusion.

Soldiers' Football Team.
A football team is being formed of members of the First Regiment, and the initial try-out will be held on Saturday afternoon. The members of the team will come mostly from F Company, whose captain, A. B. Cousins, always takes a lead in athletic matters in the regiment. The team hopes to soon be in position to challenge all comers to match games.

DRY PEOPLE FIND SENATE IS CLOSE

Anti-Saloon League Committee Doubtful of Success of Legislative Program.

Small comfort was apparently gleaned from perusal of the lists of nominees for the State Senate, made here yesterday by the executive committee of the Anti-Saloon League of Virginia. The committee was in session throughout the day at its offices on Franklin Street.

Seen after the meeting, Professor C. T. Jordan, of Staunton, the "dry" leader of the Valley of Virginia, said that no business was transacted of public interest—"nothing of a political nature," he added, with a smile. "We had merely a good many routine matters before us."

"The only thing we did along that line," said Professor Jordan, "was to go over the list of legislative nominees. We found that the State Senate is pretty close on the program of the league. A Norfolk paper has figured the number of State-wide propositions to be about twenty-one to nineteen, and I think that is about correct. However, no nomination has yet been made in Rockingham nor in two or three of the districts in the Southwest."

He added that the committee did not go over the list of House nominees, feeling that it contains a majority favorable to the league's plans. There are two demands, in accordance with the program adopted at Newport News. One is a law referring State-wide propositions to a vote of the people on petition of 25 per cent. of the voters, and the other is an act prohibiting the interstate shipment of intoxicating liquors into dry territory.

The latter proposition is opposed by many nominees who favor the former. In the absence of a law forbidding interstate shipment of this character, feeling that Congress should act first.

NORODY THERE TO TAKE UP BUSINESS

Street Committee Complains About Failure of Members to Attend Meetings.

The Council Committee on Streets failed of a quorum last night. It's a habit that has grown on the Street Committee in recent months, so much so that Clerk J. Taylor Stratton has abandoned hope of reading the agenda minutes or transacting the pending business, and threatens to resign again. Seven members sat about last night for an hour and said things about the nine absentees. City Engineer Bolling, who takes the blame for all the Street Committee does, or fails to do, looked worried. There was a contractor—a man named Donnell—who had failed to come to time on the Gillie's Creek bridge—a most important part of the plan for opening new Street. But Mr. Nelson, the Fulton delegate on the committee was not in his seat.

Mr. Gunst rose to the occasion and made a speech on the subject of failure to attend Council committees. He had three important pieces of work for which funds had been provided—street improvements which he long ago promised to the people of Lee Ward—and there was not a sufficient number present to authorize him to ask for bids. It was a shame, he asserted, and Chairman Adams, who had left a sick wife at home, agreed. Mr. Gunst was disposed to press the point. If bids were not called for soon the contractor would not be awarded before winter, and the tax-payers of Lee Ward would again have to wade through mud, all because Mr. Lynch had gone to the minstrel show. All agreed that the situation was critical, but Sergeant-at-Arms Russell was not on hand to pull Mr. Lynch out of the street, and so at 9 o'clock the meeting solemnly adjourned to Monday night.

"That's the way it goes," complained Mr. Gunst. "I offered a plan last year to cut down the Council to a few men and to pay them to attend to all this business, and to fire them if they didn't look after it. The Council never even voted on it, and the very men who opposed it then are the men who have been staying away and keeping those of us who are willing to work from accomplishing anything."

Broke Her Bracelet.
Charles Sims, a white man, was arrested last night on the charge of damaging the property of Nannie Skinner. It is claimed that he pulled a bracelet off her arm and broke it up.

DR. MANN WILL CONTINUE FIGHT

Governor's Nephew Says He Won't Withdraw Under Any Circumstances.

It seems that a warm political fight is likely to grow out of the candidacy of Dr. Herbert Mann for the position of surgeon of the State Penitentiary. He is opposing the incumbent, Dr. Charles V. Carrington. The scrap is strictly within the "machine," for both of the candidates were hearty supporters of Senators Martin and Swanson in the recent contest.

Special interest is manifested because of the fact that Dr. Mann is a nephew of the Governor. The latter, it is stated, has taken no position in the matter, and members of the board of directors of the penitentiary, which is the appointing power, say they have not been asked to keep up the fight. On the other hand, Dr. Mann is inclined to the opinion that efforts will be made by certain "powers that be" to induce the Governor to request his withdrawal from the contest.

Says He'll Stick.
Dr. Mann appears to have thoroughly made up his mind, for he states that the personal requests of Governor Mann, Senator Martin and Senator Swanson combined would not induce him to withdraw his candidacy. Further, he says, it will make no difference to him what the newspapers say about the situation. He says that the majority of the members of the board have decided to vote against Dr. Carrington, and he sees no reason why he should not have the office.

On the other hand, Dr. Carrington has been firm in his fight, and regardless of Dr. Mann's claims of a victory, he should be displaced. It is understood that Clyde W. Saunders, a former political leader in Richmond, is working vigorously for Dr. Carrington, who is his personal and political friend.

The two United States Senators are said to have done nothing so far save to regret the appearance of a nephew of the Governor in a contest to be decided by appointees of the executive.

TWO HUNDRED MAY BE HEAVILY FINED

That Many Corporations in Eastern Virginia Fail to Pay Federal Tax.

About 200 corporations doing business in the Second Virginia District of the United States Internal Revenue Department, which embraces the eastern portion, have failed to pay the required excise tax, and are liable to fines of not less than $1,000 nor more than $10,000. Many concerns which did not pay up within the specified time compromised their cases with the office of Collector M. K. Lowry, and about 200 such adjustments have been effected. Those which do not settle before the Federal grand jury meets, the first Monday in October, will have their cases placed in the hands of the district attorney. If it is shown in court that they have failed to pay the tax it will be impossible for them to get out with less than the minimum fine of $1,000.

The department has been inclined to be lenient in compromising the cases of delinquents and have used every measure to warn them against permitting presentations to the grand jury. Only corporations having an annual income of $5,000 or more are subject to the tax.
